

OPINION

SPOKE

Editor: Anne Hahn
Production Manager: Scott Russell
Advertising Manager: George White
Staff: Editor: Staff: Terry De Souza, Wendy Hahn, Dave Miller
Dan Schiller
Contributors: Bruce Johnson

Spoke is published by the Peace Studies Institute (PSI) and is published by the Institute, part of the University of Washington. The staff and writers are not necessarily in full agreement with the views of the PSI or of PSIA.

The editorial board of Spoke is a committee of the University of Washington. Spoke is published by the Institute, part of the University of Washington. The staff and writers are not necessarily in full agreement with the views of the PSI or of PSIA.

Gus and Sully

by Terry De Souza

Communication

Sexuality is its highest form in communication. But in its lowest, it is merely a means. It is important to be communicative in the most ways and not to be communicative in the most ways. It is important to be communicative in the most ways and not to be communicative in the most ways.

People are beginning to communicate with each other. People are beginning to communicate with each other. People are beginning to communicate with each other.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

They do not know themselves though. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing. They are ignorant of what they are doing and are ignorant of what they are doing.

Question of the Week

Should Spoke run more personal ads?

"Yes, but it's too much money for college students. They don't have the money to pay for it." — [Name] — [School]

"Sure, it can motivate people to do things that they wouldn't do otherwise. It's a good idea." — [Name] — [School]

"I think so. It would be good for the students to have more information about each other." — [Name] — [School]

"I can get more students to do things that they wouldn't do otherwise. It's a good idea." — [Name] — [School]

Precious love should survive life's pressures

By Jayne Miller

It is not just the pressures of life that are the problem. It is the pressures of life that are the problem. It is the pressures of life that are the problem.

It is not just the pressures of life that are the problem. It is the pressures of life that are the problem. It is the pressures of life that are the problem.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

For the majority who make it through the first years of marriage, the pressures of life are a real challenge. They are a real challenge. They are a real challenge.

